Digigraphie Prints have a wider border to allow the embossed stamp to be placed in the bottom-right corner. This does not influence the print/image size; it is additional space added by us

Digigraphie Prints must be signed and numbered by the artist and must be part of a limited edition.

Each print is issued with a Digigraphie Certificate of Authenticity on a deckle edged paper called Fabriano Minerva which is also stamped by the lab. This can be presented to the recipient of the Digigraphie print.

The original print file is stored at RightBrain. When the edition is completed this file is permanently deleted.

The colour of Digigraphie prints is certified using specialised print software and a spectroproofer. This guarantees that each print in the edition is a perfect match.

Digigraphie prints can only be made on approved 'Signature Worthy' papers from Hahnemühle and Canson that have been tested for quality and longevity.
